Quick Software Overview.

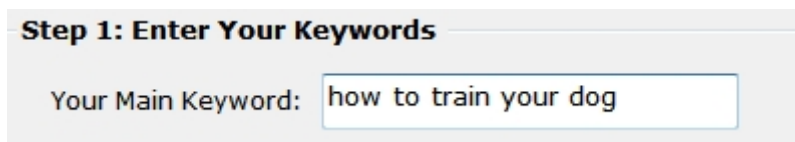

“MassPromptsGenerator” is a windows software that allows you to easily create article prompts. These articles prompts are created from different keywords of your choice.

These prompts can be used in different apps of your choice (like ChatGPT or others).

Using the Software.

Using the software is very easy.

First, you need to enter your main keyword, for example... “how to train your dog”.

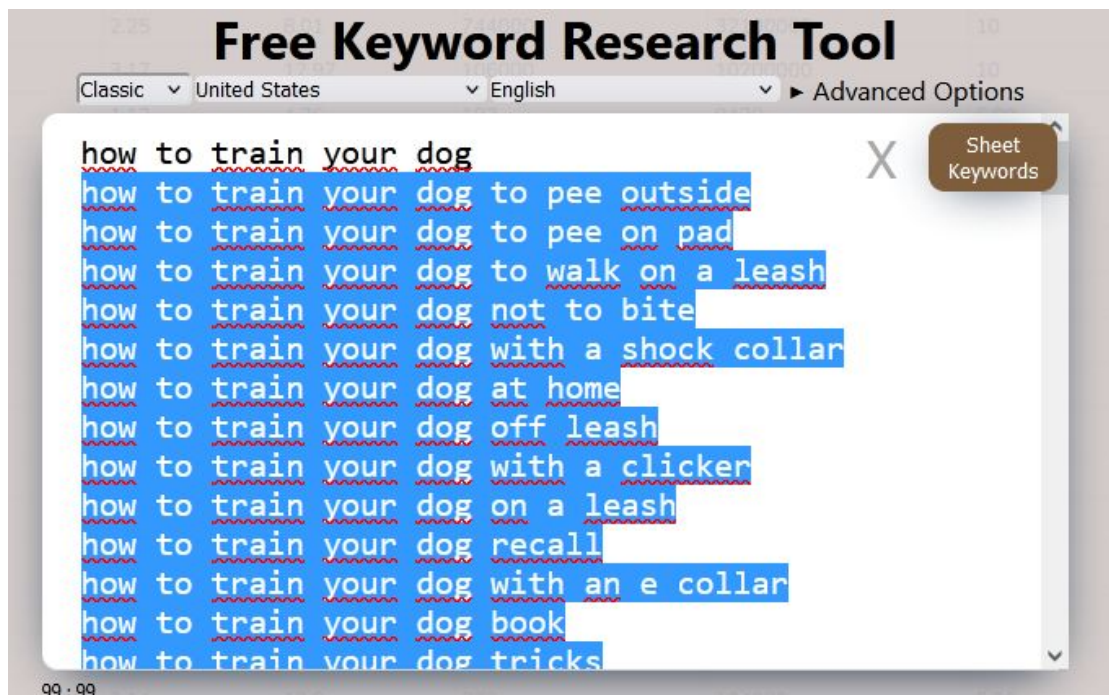

A screenshot of a software window titled "Step 1: Enter Your Keywords". Inside the window, there is a label "Your Main Keyword:" followed by a text input field containing the text "how to train your dog".

Then you need to enter related keywords here...

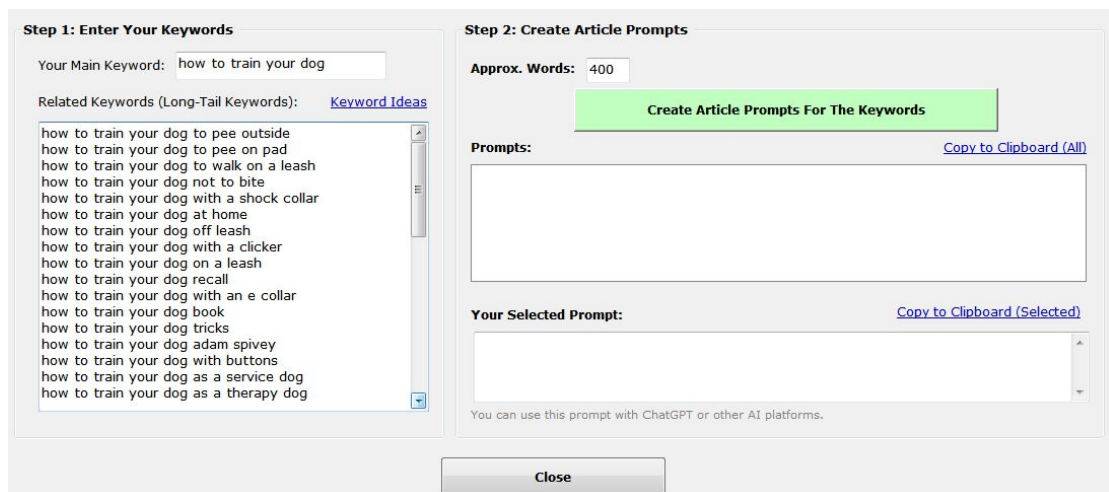

A screenshot of the same software window titled "Step 1: Enter Your Keywords". The "Your Main Keyword:" field still contains "how to train your dog". Below it, there is a label "Related Keywords (Long-Tail Keywords):" followed by a blue hyperlink labeled "Keyword Ideas". Below the hyperlink is a large, empty text area for entering related keywords. A large red arrow points from the right side of the text area towards the "Keyword Ideas" link.

Tip: You can get keyword ideas at keywordsheeter.com (free).

Comment: This website can generate thousands of keywords. It's recommended to stop it once you've got a couple of keywords (50 or 100 for example).

Once that you have some keywords, you can add them to the software.

After this, click the following button to create the article prompts for your keywords...
